Welcome to EDINBURGH Deaf FESTIVAL 2024

We're thrilled to be bringing Edinburgh Deaf Festival back for another year. We are dedicated to promoting deaf arts in Scotland and are committed to ensuring deaf people continue having access to the festival season.

Our team has worked hard to overcome funding challenges this year, and we're proud to be returning with another inclusive festival. Budget constraints mean our festival programme looks slightly different this year, but we promise this year's programme will be every bit as vibrant and engaging as before.

You can still expect a diverse range of events, including comedy, theatre, workshops, and more. We're particularly excited to present our original performance, 'The Ghost of Alexander Blackwood', a festival first. All performances will be accessible to deaf and hearing audiences. Thank you to everyone who has supported our festival. Your letters, messages of encouragement, and generous donations have played a pivotal role in ensuring Edinburgh Deaf Festival continues. We're also grateful to our festival partners for their ongoing collaboration, ensuring deaf people can access events across the city.

Explore the programme to discover deaf-led talent and interpreted events from our accessible partners. We're sure you'll find something you love.

Book your tickets at edinburghdeaffestival.com

Blackwood’, developed life story, from childhood to becoming a pastor at the world’s first deaf church,

right here in Edinburgh.
Produced by and starring
a deaf cast, witness Blackwood’s profound impact on the deaf community. Meet other famous deaf figures from Edinburgh’s history along the way, and discover how these interactions shaped
